Italian Champion Unable to Carry Out His Ed Corrigan Will Build Course Dreyfuss Secures Philadelphia Contract in an Hour's Time.

tier this country over knew, as Mr.

ning. Pardello started to work immediately after he shook hands with his diminutive rival. The Italian had fully forty pounds advantage in weight, and with that he was not long in bringing George to the floor. But George was on his stomach, and he was that way pretty nearly all the time for the full hour.

Bias.

The preliminary bouts were as good as the main event. Bill Brown, Bothner's partner and friend, was the principal one, and, like Bothner, showed a cleverness that convinced those present that he is the top class of wrestlers. He met Pete Conlin, a good mat artist, and, after ten minutes' work, downed him. Bothner and Billy Elmer were in Brown's corner.

George Bothner, the greatest little Had Pardello a derrick he might have succeeded in turning the little man over but, strong as he was, he could not do Decley would say, added to his record last night in a bout with Leo Pardello, the Italian champion, at the Polo A. A's club-house. The contest was the best ever seen in New York, not even excepting those which have been held to date this year.

Pardello is not only suffering the light-weight once in an hour, but he is yeary much out of pocket. He was brimful of confidence that he would throw Bothner twice in an hour, as he contracted to do, and so he bet his share of the purse. He got not a cent for his awful struggle.

With so much depending on his winning. Pardello started to work immediately after he achoek hands with his light, we first the mate rather hard and blood began to flow from it, but that was all the satisfaction Pardello got.

Pardello tried every kind of a hold known to the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling, but there was not one that worked effectively. Bothner squirmed out of some tight places, and the big crowd of spectators was kept constantly cheering. When the bout was over the crowd gave full vent to its feelings. It gave Bothner a reception such as no wrestler ever received in NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—Indications all point to the belief that there will be another race track here next winter, and blood began to flow from it, but that was all point to the belief that there will be another race track here next winter, and blood began to flow from it, but that was all point to the belief that there will be another race track here next winter, and that it will be controlled and managed that the mat rather hard and blood began to flow from it, but that was all point to the belief that there will be another race track here race track here forced in the force of a heavy fall. Charles F. Wright, implicated in the confession of Jockey Penn in the steeplechase fraud here last winter and whitewashed by the track officials in the recent Hicks case, is a fugility from justice. Wright occupied a subordinate position in a Carondelet street homestead concern, and was charged with the collection and the entering up of the money of the shareholders. Last week an accountant found a number of false entries in the books. He made known the facts to the scretary of the company, who called on Wright for an explanation. The latter at first said it was an error, but in a little while he broke down and made a confession to the effect that he was short $5,000.

Wright was supposed to have won $30,000 on the crooked steeplechase races, but lost most of it during the summer in a Carondelex street pool-room and $5,000 on the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in San Francisco.

The plungers centered on Light Hunt in this race and he was backed to the exclusion of the others. A jam shortly after the start put Light Hunt out of the struggle. Before he got clear Little Jack Horner was out in front with a winning lead. The latter reveiled in the going and was never in trouble. Fuller took no chances and rode him out the last quarter and he beat Light Hunt out out three lengths.

a big racing stable. Besides that Mr. Corrigan is a heavy bettor, and he has won big money on several occasions in the last year when he felt sure that he was in right. Only a short time ago he closed a deal for a new race track in Kansas City which, as it will be protected by the Missouri Breeders' Law, should be a paying property.

Corrigan has a few horses racing here, but he is not here for his health altogether. He has been looking around, and already has an option on a site for a race track. Corrigan's idea is to enlist the society and business element of the city in his enterprise in order to give it the prestige that he believes necessary to successful racing in this section.

The above information was obtained from sources close to Corrigan. It can be stated as certain that the monopoly idea in racing here has reached the limit, and that another year will see a high-class, well-equipped race track dividing the dates at New Orleans with the present Crescent City Jockey Club. Mr. Corrigan contemplates a rich derby, other valuable fixed events and an effort to cater to the best element of the local population.

John T. Brush, the owner of the New York Baseball Club, is expected to arrive in this city to-day, and, if he does, he, together with the owners of the Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Boston clubs, will hold what might be called an indignation meeting. That was the report which was in circulation last night. Messrs, Soden, Ebbets and Rogers were not to be found, but still the story spread that they would meet at the Victoria Hotel to express their dissatisfaction with the result of the peace conference in Cincinnati last week. They will pass a measure calling for the return of contract jumpers and players signed after the peace negotiations wer
